My King.

When and how shall I meet h.m? If ever.
What are the words he first will say?
How will the Larriers now that sever
Our kindred spirits be croken away?
This self-same daylight on him is chining.
Shining somewhere the while I sing;
The only one who, my will resigning.
Could I acknowledge my king, my king.

Whether his hair be golden or raven,
Whether his eyes be dark or blue.
I know not how; but 'would be engraven
On that white day as my perfect hue.
Many a face I have liked for a minute—
Been chained by a voice with a pleasant ring—
But ever and aye there was something in it,
Something that could not be his, my king.

I will not dream of him handsome and strong, My ideal love may be weak and slight; It matters not to what class he belong. He would be noble enough in my sight; He may not be brilliantly gifted, my lord, And he may be learned in everything; But if ever he comes he will strike the chord, Whose melody waits for the hand of its king.

But he must be courteous toward the lowly;
To the weak and sorrewful, loving, too;
He must be courageous, refined and holy,
By nature exaited, and firm and true.
To such I might rearlessly give the keeping
Of love that would never outgrow its spring;
There would be tew tears of a woman's weeping
If they loved such men as my kir - my king.

The Impeachment.

THE COURSE WHICH WILL BE PURSUED BY THE COUNSEL OF THE PRESIDENT-PROBABLY A PROTRACTED TRIAL-SENATOR SAULSBURY TEMPTED-THE OBJECT IN VIEW-THE TEMPTER "ORDERED OUT. "

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette writes under date of the 16th

The counsel of the President are busily engaged in the preparation of his answer to the articles of impeachment, and it is understood from what may be regarded as good authority from what may be regarded as good authority that they will present first a general demurrer, in which it will be denied that the charges as presented furnish justifiable grounds for an impeachment. This demurrer willy apply particularly to the tenth article, which embraces extracts from speeches, denying that the words are sufficient in substance—even if the article was not defective in form. The counsel will next present an objection to the court, as not being larly to the tenth article, which embraces cartracts from speeches, denying that the words are sufficient in substance—even if the article was not defective in form. The counsel will next present an objection to the court, as not being the tribunal contemplated by the constitution—there being ten States unrepresented, and consequently twenty of the constitutional judges excluded from the court. The third objection will be to the competency of certain members of the court in consequence of a direct interest in the result of the trial (Wade's case), or their having disqualified themselves by forming and expressing in advance opinions which prevent them from being impartial judges. After these objections will come the general denial of "not guilty," followed by a confession and justification of the main facts charged. Such is understood to be the line of proceedings marked out by Mr. Stanbery, the leading counsel in the case, and the impression prevails among the friends of the President that the trial will be protracted, in spite of the efforts of the prosecution to rush it through to a judgment. When it comes to the introduction of evidence it will be out of the power of the managers to control matters, and the investigation may become interminable, as suggested by Mr. Stanbery on Friday last. The article involving extracts from the President's Western speeches may involve the necessity of bringing to Washington a thousand witnesses not only to prove what the President did say and how he said it. but also to prove the provocation given the President by Radical politicians who had assembled, particularly at Cleveland, Ohio, for the purpose of insulting Mr. Johnson. This tenth article opens a wide field for examination, and, when once opened, who can say when it will be closed?

I sent you yesterday a brief notice of the "spy" system which has been again introduced here; but this perhaps is even less infamous than other tactics adopted by the impeachers to secure the conviction of Andrew Johnson, and thus usurp an of his presence.

The unfortunate weakness of this Senston was attempted to be used to deprive the Senston was attempted to be used to was attempted to be used to deprive the Senate of a vote known to be against the Jacobins, and this creature had no doubt been employed to tempt his well known appetite for intoxicating drinks, and by placing him under the influence of brandy, probably drugged, to keep him from his seat in the Senate. These facts are stated by Senator Saulsbury himself, who declares that he never saw or heard of the individual proposing to present him with a case of brandy before or since this transaction. It is very evident that strangers in Washington have become wonderfully liberal of late, thus to donate cases of brandy, or that there is good reason to suspect a damning plot against the Senator from Delaware, with a view of having him expelled from the Senate, and thus reduce the Conservative vote. No friend of Mr. Saulsbury here questions the fact that there was a plot laid by the impeachment schemers.

Liverpool February 29.—Corron,—[From the Broker's Circular.]—Cotton has been in comparatively moderate demand this week, and during the last few days, owing principally to advices from New York of rather heavy receipts, quotations have given way considerably, and close with a downward tendency. For Sea Island the demand continues good at the advanced rates of last week; the common qualities are extremely scarce, and about 2d per lb dearer. American has been pressed for sale and irregular in price, closing with a decline of about ½d per lb. New York advices to the 27th instant quote Middling 22½ cents, costing to sell in Liverpeol 9½d, per salling vessel or steamer. For Brazil there has been only a limited demand, and prices are very irregular, at a decline varying from ½d to ½d on the strongest stapled kinds, and ½d to ½d on bantos and Eahia sorts. Egyptian, being in less general request during the past iew days, has declined about ½d per lb. The demand for East India has been moderate, and prices have given way shout ½d per lb. NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—Cotton—The sales to-day reached 5000 bales at rather easier prices, but without any material decline. We now quote Ordinary at 20a21c; Good Ordinary at 22a22½c; Low Middling at 23½a2c; Middling at 23½a-c, and Strict Middling at 24a-c.

The market opened with a better inquiry, but with offers from buyers below the views of factors, who were reluctant to make any concessions from yesterday's rates. At a later hour, however, the latter met the demand more freely, and although the movement was by no means general, yet the amount noted above changed hands at prices showing some further advantage on the side of buyers, and generally conforming to the quotations given. The sales of the past three days sum up 10,300 bales, making a total for the week of 20,650, against 31,000 last week, and 26,000 the week before. UNABRIDGED NEW ILLUSTRATED. OVER 3000 FINE ENGRAVINGS.

A necessity to every intelligent family, student, teacher and professional man. What Library is complete without the best English Dictionary?

The work is the richest book of information in the world. There is probably more real education in it than can be bought for the same amount of money in any languace. Every Parsonage should have a copy at the expense of the parish. It would improve many pulpits more than a trip to Europe, and at a much least cost—New York Christian Advocate.

Lay it upon your table by the side of the Bible; it is a better expounder than many which claim to be expounders.—M. Life Boat.

efficacy in producing large and early crops of Cotton, Corn, Wheat and Vegetables, while, at the same time, it enriches the soil. We subjoin the following: Walterboro', S. C., July 22, 1867.

Gentlemen: In reply to your inquiry relative to the merits of WHANN'S SUPER-PHOS-

NUMEROUS TESTIMONIALS CAN BE FURNISHED CERTIFYING TO ITS

PHATE, which, at your recommendation, I empoyed this season upon my Cotton lands, I would state that it has fully equalled, and indeed surpassed my expectations, and its application has been attended by the most favorable results. I have used it in connection with the most popular Phosphates, and unhesitatingly give the preference to WHANN'S, which I regard as being (next to Peruvian Guano) the most valuable Fertilizer for Cotton that Mas been offered to the public. Very respectfully, ALLEN C. IZARD. Terms, $65 per ton of 2000 pounds. Times sales can be arranged for.
